About the Authors

Mark T. Beaman, JD, is an experienced trial attorney and administrative lawyer who has been with GERMER law firm, where he is a principal at the Austin office, since 1998. He is a fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers and a member of the American Board of Trial Advocates. He has represented physicians in medical liability litigation and in cases before the Texas Medical Board for more than 30 years. Mr. Beaman was recognized as a Texas Super Lawyer, as published in Texas Monthly, from 2006 to 2015. He is also included in The Best Lawyers in America and U.S. News Best Lawyers, and is listed as a recommended attorney in Physician, Protect Thyself, a book on medical liability prevention.

Mr. Beaman graduated from the University of Virginia in 1976 with a degree in government and foreign affairs. He obtained his law degree at the University of Arkansas Law School in Fayetteville, Ark., where he was a member and an associate editor of the Arkansas Law Review. He is a member of the State Bar of Texas and Austin Bar Association, and member and past director of the Texas Association of Defense Counsel.

Christa J. Carlton, JD, is director of claims at ProAssurance in Austin. She began her legal career at GERMER law firm in 2006. She graduated with an associate degree in applied science in nursing in 1995 and a bachelor of business administration degree in accounting, magna cum laude, in 1997 from San Angelo State University.

Ms. Carlton graduated with honors from The University of Texas School of Law in 2006. While in law school, she served on the leadership team of the Christian Legal Society and as a senior editor for the Texas Review of Law and Politics. She became a registered nurse in June 1995 and gained clinical experience in neonatal intensive care, post-anesthesia/surgical intensive care, and medical-surgical units. From 2012 to 2015, she worked as a neonatal intensive care unit staff registered nurse at St. David’s HealthCare in Austin.

Tom Ealey, CPA, has more than three decades of health care experience working as a certified public accountant, management consultant, medical practice administrator, writer, seminar leader, and litigation analyst. He has done extensive work with medical practices, ambulatory surgery centers, and long-term care facilities. He has worked with troubled organizations and organizations in transition and is well versed in many areas of government regulation.
Mr. Ealey is a professor in the Department of Business Administration of Alma College in Alma, Mich. He was involved in founding the college’s Integrated Health Studies Institute and developing the health care administration major. He writes and lectures frequently for medical practice executives and nursing home administrators on operational, financial, regulatory, and human resources topics. His current research interests include health care regulation and compliance, national health policy, health care informed consent, health care quality failures, and financial fraud. Mr. Ealey sends a special thanks for assistance to Jean Ealey, RN, clinical issues advisor.

María T. Cantú Hexsel, JD, is senior trial counsel at GERMER law firm’s Austin office. She graduated cum laude from Our Lady of the Lake University in 1992, where she earned a bachelor of arts in social studies. She received her law degree from Texas Tech University in 1995 and joined the Lubbock firm of Salinas & Mendez, PC. In 1997, she joined the Tort Litigation Division of the Texas Office of the Attorney General in Austin, and as an assistant attorney general represented state agencies and employees in all aspects of civil litigation and defended state medical schools in medical liability lawsuits. In 1999, she joined the Austin firm of Ewbank & Byrom, PC (now Ewbank & Harris, PC) where she represented physicians and physician groups in medical liability litigation at the trial and appellate levels.

Ms. Cantú Hexsel joined GERMER in 2004. She is a member of the Austin Bar Association, State Bar of Texas, Hispanic Bar Association of Austin, and Travis County Women Lawyers Association.

Franklin Hopkins, JD, a principal at GERMER law firm, is board certified in administrative law by the Texas Board of Legal Specialization. He represents physicians before the Texas Medical Board, where he previously worked as a staff attorney. Before practicing law in Austin, Mr. Hopkins served in the U.S Army Judge Advocate General’s Corps, where he prosecuted numerous felony cases as a trial counsel, senior prosecutor, and chief of military justice.

He was awarded the Defense Meritorious Service Medal for trying the most cases in Iraq in 2010, and the Army Commendation Medal as the top prosecutor at Fort Hood, Texas, the busiest criminal law jurisdiction in the U.S. Army. Mr. Hopkins currently serves as major and defense attorney in the Texas Army National Guard.

Danielle Gilbert, JD, is an associate at the law firm of Husch Blackwell in Austin. Previous to that, she practiced law at GERMER law firm’s Austin office. Her litigation experience covers medical liability, products liability, personal injury, and health law. She graduated with a degree in history from The University of Texas at Austin in 2009. She graduated magna cum laude from Thomas Jefferson School of Law in 2014, where she served as editor-in-chief of the Thomas Jefferson Law Review. While in law school, Ms. Gilbert completed numerous judicial internships. After law school, Ms. Gilbert served as a law clerk for the Honorable Mark P. Lane at the U.S. District Court for the Western District of Texas, Austin Division.
